

Creating Similes

Her face was like a runaway horse.

Ella's eyes

gleamed like pearls.

He bolted out of the room

as round as the full moon.

Grandmother's false teeth

like charging bulls.

The children ran sparkled like diamonds.

The first of the sentences have lost their second parts!

They all create similes.

Are the simile parts the first parts or the last parts of the sentences?

Can you rewrite the similes by joining a first part with a last part?
